

Provincial Development Coach

Greg Kealey

Coach Greg Kealey founded the Ottawa based Bytown Storm Triathlon Club in 2001, the program is one of the longest running, successful draft legal development programs in Canada. Since 2017 Coach Kealey has taken on the added role of Triathlon Ontario's Provincial Coach working with Youth, Junior and U23 athletes and their coaches across the Province to establish an infrastructure and athlete development framework that will support athlete development and long term success beyond provincial and national level competition.

Coach Kealey's certifications include: Certified NCCP Competition Coach – Triathlon, Certified NCCP Coach Developer and Coach Evaluator, Certified NCCP Master Coach Developer, Advanced Coaching Diploma, Own the Podium's - Coaching Enhancement Certificate, Athletics Canada's – Science and Strategy Middle Distance Running (Trained – non-NCCP).

Coach Kealey's International Coaching experience through his work with Triathlon Canada and his collaboration with National Team Coaches from Australia, New Zealand, Italy and the UK over the past 10 years has help shape Coach Kealey's approach and philosophy athlete development. His collaboration with those world leading programs and coaches have helped shape the Provincial Development Program as it evolves to provide knowledgeable, experienced coaching based on best practices from International programs leading the world in athlete development.

As one of Canada's most experienced coaches whose athletes have participated at the Olympics, Commonwealth Games, Pan-Am Games and World Championships, Coach Kealey continues to expand and improve Triathlon Ontario's athlete development infrastructure through a unique partnership between Triathlon Ontario and British Triathlon at the University of Leeds. This partnership in it's 3rd year supports athlete and coach development for select Ontario athletes and coaches to train in Leeds. The exposure to a real world class program, training with Olympic coaches and athletes who have combined for over a dozen Olympic medals is truly a learning experience that cannot be overstated.
